

New York Stock Market

New York, June 9.—There was a further falling off in the amount of dealings in stocks to-day and some remaining uncertainty in the tone of speculation, although on a narrowing range of fluctuations.

The relations of the railroads to the control exercised by the government held its prominence as a subject of influence, and sentiment was unsettled still over the direction of that influence.

The movement of St. Paul was watched with close attention on account of a supposition that the policy of restraint on the market had centered its operations in that stock.

These influences, at first overbalanced that of the reduction in the Bank of England official discount rate, which had the effect of reviving the London buying of stocks in this market.

The upward course of United States stocks helped to lift prices during the day, that stock showing at one time a recovery of a fraction more than the quarterly dividend, which came of the price.

The closing of the day showed fractional gains in a majority of cases, the realizing movement at the last reflecting the persisting uncertainty.
